

CONTENTS

1. Bringing “Change” to America—But This Time, Change for the Better	1
Moralnomics: Melding Morality and Economic Freedom	5
How Falsely Claiming the Moral High Ground Empowers Top-downers	10
Winning the Moral High Ground to Save the American Dream	15

PART I CELEBRATING THE SPECIAL NATURE OF EACH INDIVIDUAL

2. Valuing Ourselves as Individuals: Top-down versus Bottom-up Perspectives	25
3. The Human Mind: Source of Our Uniqueness, Complexity, and Growth Potential	32
4. The Magic of the Human Brain: Merging Analytical, Creative, and Emotional Functions to Grow Our Wisdom	38
5. Why Computers Never Will Replace Humans	45
6. Creativity and Inductive Thinking	49
7. The Human Mind at Work: There Is No Such Thing as a Group Thought	54

8. All of Us Can Grow and Succeed Regardless of Race, Gender, or Socioeconomic Status	58
Why Group Preferences and Lowered Standards Harm Their Intended Beneficiaries	58
Minority Members Can Succeed on the Merits	63

PART II
THE EMPATHIC BOND:
CONNECTING AND CARING

9. Why Growing as Individuals Is Not Enough: No Man Is an Island	67
10. Empathy: The Bedrock of Other-directedness	76
11. Us-versus-them Mentality: The Enemy of Empathy	81
Offensive and Defensive Us-versus-them Mentalities	82
Cutting the Gordian Knot of Human History to Make a Better Tomorrow	86
How Selectively Lowered Standards Harm Empathic Development	88
Judging People by the Content of Their Character	91

PART III
CIVILIZATION AND MORALITY:
THE FOUNDATIONS OF FREEDOM

12. Civilization versus the Jungle: Setting the Stage for
---	--

Universal Morality	94
13. Basic Moral Rules: Lifting Us Out of the Jungle	97
Defining Moral Rules by Reference to the Jungle	97
Lying and Cheating	98
Stealing	100
Negative Competition	105
Falsely Playing the Victim	106
14. Higher Moral Principles: Kindling Lifelong Growth	108
Horizontal versus Vertical Relationships	110
Structural Problems in Parent-child Relationships	111
Applying Moral Principles in Our Lives	115
15. Confusing Moral Values and Cultural Differences	116
16. Conscience: Keeping Us Moral When No One Is Looking	122
17. Taking Personal Responsibility: Morality in Motion	130

PART IV
PROTECTING CIVILIZATION AND FREEDOM
FROM THE JUNGLE

18. The Tools for Defending Civilization	137
19. The Need for Armed Forces to Combat the Jungle	140

20. Moral Confusion in the War Against the Jungle	146
Top-down and Bottom-up Forces Look Alike but Are Fundamentally Different	147
Empowering Civilization to Deter Jungle Conduct	148
Limitations of the United Nations and Other International Organizations	152
Free Speech, Education, and the Moral Duty to Protect Civilization and Freedom	154
21. Honoring Our Military and Police	157
22. Compromising Freedom to Save Civilization	160
23. The Importance of Deterring Criminal Behavior	163
24. How Lack of Empathy for Victims Undermines Deterrence of Crime	168
25. Wrongs Done to Us Do Not Justify Doing Wrong to Others: The Duty to Get Over It!	173

PART V
ECONOMIC FREEDOM:
PROPERTY RIGHTS AND FREE MARKETS

26. Owning Property and Making Contracts: The Alpha of Economic Growth	177
27. Supply and Demand: The Beautiful Ballet of Economic Freedom	185
A View from a Helicopter	185

The Shifting Balance of Supply and Demand: Buyer's and Seller's Markets	188
28. Why Top-Downers Can't Dance	194
29. How Much Is Something Worth? The Value of Benefit Conferred	197
Prices As Indicators of the Value of Benefit Conferred	197
Increasing the Value of Goods and Services	199
Top-down Intrusions on Economic Freedom	200
30. How Free Trade Maximizes the Value of Benefit Conferred	205
How Free-market Price Levels Allocate Resources Most Efficiently	205
How Free-market Price Levels Allocate Resources across Geographical Boundaries	207
Demystifying Trade Deficits and Trade Barriers	211
Confusing Trade Deficits and Budget Deficits	217
31. How Much Is Our Labor Worth? The Value of Benefit Conferred	219
Why Some Workers' Contributions Are Worth More	219
Reining in Excessive Executive Compensation	225
32. Elevating the Quality of Our Workers and Managers	227

Becoming Better Workers	227
Becoming Better Managers	233
Avoiding Undue Reliance on Quantifiable Measures in Assessing Performance	236
33. Equality of Outcome versus Freedom of Opportunity: Learning Not to Resent Others' Success	239
Channeling Our Envy into Motivation for Personal Growth	240
Rewarding Productivity by Allowing Wealth to Be Gifted by Those Who Earn It	242
34. Morality in the Marketplace	244
Moral Responsibilities of Buyers	244
Moral Responsibilities of Sellers	248
Spending Other People's Money: An Invitation to Economic Irresponsibility	250

PART VI
POLITICAL FREEDOM:
RULE OF LAW AND DEMOCRACY

35. Making Rules and Empowering Limited Government to Act for the People	253
36. Rule of Law versus Rule of Rulers	256
What Is a Law?	257
Top-down Systems and Rule of Rulers	258

Bottom-up Systems and Rule of Law	260
Protecting Minorities	262
37. Rule of Law in America	265
The Constitution: A Charter for Government by Consent of the Governed	266
The Constitution as Protector of Citizens' Sovereignty over Their Own Lives	267
Amending the Constitution	270
38. Top-down Systems in the Twentieth Century: Communism, Socialism, and Fascism	274
Communism	275
Socialism and Fascism	282
Core Attributes of Communism, Socialism, and Fascism	284
Modern Socialism and Top-down Governance in Western Democratic Republics	285
39. The Rise of Top-down Power in America	288
40. Top-down Threats to Economic Freedom and Prosperity in Modern America	304
Expansion of the Federal Government's Power over Our Commerce	304
Expansion of the Federal Government's Power to Spend Our Money	313

Expansion of the Federal Government’s Power over Our Constituent States	315
The Budget Deficit Explosion: Beyond Fixing through Raising Taxes, Printing More Dollars, or Increasing the National Debt	318
The Lack of Cost Transparency and Cost-benefit Analysis in the Public Sector	323
Unfunded Mandates	325
The Fed, the Money Supply, and Trade Barriers	326
The Misuse of Science to Expand the Top-down Regulatory State	331
41. The State’s Proper Role in a Moral Society	338
Protecting Civilization from the Jungle	338
Advancing Economic and Political Freedoms	339
42. Alleviating Poverty: Why Free Societies Fare So Much Better Than Top-down States	348
43. We Need a “Reset”—Not with Russia, but with Our Own Government	358
Proposed Policy Changes and Constitutional Amendments	364
Preserving America’s Military Might	373
Rethinking Organizational Structures	374

Improving Ourselves and Our Society through Higher Moral Principles

376

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

ABOUT THE AUTHOR